

DIEFENBAKER SEES TRUDEAU'S ABSENCE A SNUB TO ROYAL VISIT

SASKATOON (CP) — Staunch royalist John Diefenbaker launched a venomous attack on Prime Minister Trudeau Monday for not being on hand to greet Queen Elizabeth on her arrival to Canada.

"It was a snub," said the former prime minister, his voice quavering, minutes after he emerged from a lunch with the Queen, courtesy of the federal government.

Diefenbaker said Trudeau should have been in St. John's, Nfld., last Wednesday for the arrival of the royal party but that Trudeau snubbed the sovereign by choosing to remain on vacation in Morocco with plans to meet the Queen later in her 12-day tour of Canada.

"It is in keeping with his general attitude . . . didn't he turn a somersault behind her?" he asked, referring to an award-winning photograph of a playful Trudeau turning a pirouette behind the Queen last May at Buckingham Palace.

Although a palace spokesman said Queen Elizabeth was not offended, Diefenbaker insisted it was a deliberate slight.

He said he didn't expect palace spokesmen to say anything different because "it has to take the position the Canadian government tells it to take" on matters involving Canada.

Canadian and British reporters covering the royal tour scribbled notes furiously as Diefenbaker warmed up to his topic.

BLASTS LAWYERS

The Prince Albert Conservative MP said the recently published recommendation of a committee of the Canadian Bar Association that the Queen be removed as head of state in Canada was "a most shocking example of indecency."

The fact that the committee's recommendations were made public Saturday, while the Queen is visiting the country, "is an indication of a reprehensible attitude."

Diefenbaker suggested the lawyers who served on the bar association's committee on constitutional changes made the recommendation because they have ambitions to be appointed as judges.

Federal Transport Minister Otto Lang, who was host of Monday's lunch with the Queen at the University of Saskatchewan, said in an interview the Queen's role in Canada is primarily ceremonial but that it is an important one.

Proposals introduced recently by Trudeau would formally recognize the Governor-General as acting head of state, but the Queen would remain the sovereign head.

The Governor-General, the Queen's representative in Canada, is appointed by the Queen on the recommendation of the government.

Diefenbaker said Trudeau was proposing to change the constitution so he would "have a head of state that would be a pawn in the hands of the prime minister of this country."

Lang said the Queen's role in Canada is important because under her reign there are strengthened links between Commonwealth countries and her presence in the country reminds people of the traditions that built Canada.

Diefenbaker said "if it hadn't been for the monarchy Canada would have long since been absorbed by the United States" and French-Canadians would have lost their language rights.

The Queen, he said, is a wonderful woman.

"She has a feeling for all her people."

Diefenbaker had to be pulled away from reporters by an aide so he could take his place with the Queen at her next stop, the University Hospital in Saskatoon.

Security officers with the Queen had a fright at the hospital when a camera flashbulb exploded a few feet from her.

GENERAL APATHY MAY LEAD TERRACE PARADE

That old prognosticator, and loser of many a battle, General R. Apathy, may be leading this year's Riverboat Days Parade. That is, unless Col. E. Nergy is successful in outmanoeuvring the lethargic old strategist.

According to hot weather specialist, E.N. Ervating, response to and support for the one hour display of floats, bands, pipers, Scouts, Guides, Service Clubs and customary backers is at a low ebb, and even the Red Cross Blood Donors Clinics - today at the Terrace Arena and tomorrow at Mount Elizabeth Senior Secondary School - are hoping that a last minute miracle will pump more enthusiasm into volunteers.

Perhaps the Dairy Queen will whip up a big float for a last minute entry, or a cooling wind from the North Pole's exhibit will save the day. The parade, scheduled to start at 10 a.m. from the Royal Canadian Legion will welcome entries from the many recreation vehicles (R.V.'s) and the Wally Byam, No. 119 Airstream Caravan, due here Thursday, so there might be a "Long Long Trailer Winding" through the streets of Terrace, after all. With a Capt. Cook Bi-Centennial theme, be sure to arrive early, oar (sic) you may even Mr. Boat. (Sorry about that. Blame it on the hot Celsius. Our weather has never been the same since they switched it over from Fahrenheit!)

Forest Fire Update

The grave forest fire situation of the past four weeks is still with us, says Vern Hopkins, duty officer for the Forest Service.

The good weather we have been experiencing for the last few weeks is O.K. for the tourists but offers little relief for the fire fighters.

No new fires of concern have developed in the last few days but some old fires have proved difficult to contain, says Hopkins.

The most advanced fire is the SLOK fire which is burning 2,655 hectares 48 kilometers south east of Atlin. 90 men and three helicopters are in the third week of battle against the blaze. According to Hopkins the fire has the upper hand in the fight at the moment.

The KEN fire is burning 1,760 hectares, 50 kilometers north of Hazelton, and is proving very difficult to contain. It crossed the fire guards at three points Sunday before being stopped by air tankers and water-bombers.

The large KAT fire burning 2,800 hectares, 35 kilometers north of Kitimat is being controlled and mopped up by a large crew of 325 Forest Service men and 165 industry people.

Three fires are not being fought because of their location in remote areas with low timber value and men and equipment not being readily available.

These are the KING fire 100 kilometers south east of Atlin where 17,000 hectares are burning, the KOW fire 130 kilometers south east of Atlin where 4,000 hectares are burning and the BOO fire 600 meters east of Dease Lake with 230 hectares burning.

Three new small fires started Sunday but none are serious.

A total of 27 fires are burning in the Prince Rupert forest district at the moment.

Hopkins wants to remind everyone the camp fire ban is still in effect in the Kitimat-Terrace area.

There was still snow on the mountains, Sunday, when this photo of playful mountain goats was taken by Dave Brosseau of Terrace, while on a hike. Dave was in the Rosswood area, 30 miles north of Terrace, when he snapped this on his Pentax Kx, using ASA 400 Tri-X black and white film.

IBEW Calls Negotiations Farce

Last week's negotiations between Pacific Northern Gas and its employees, member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, have been called "a farce" by the union's business agent Rick Dowling.

The two sides met, along with the government mediation services and the Labour Relations Board, for a week and a half in Vancouver, but negotiations broke off Thursday.

"We spent a week and a half compromising and they came up with the same offer that put us on strike," according to Dowling, who was in Terrace recently to support local striking employees of the natural gas supplier.

The IBEW went on strike early in June after a year of trying to get a first contract for Pacific Northern Gas employees between Prince George and Prince Rupert, including offices in Terrace and Kitimat.

Dowling said picket action would be resumed and escalated. Pickets appeared Friday outside the headquarters of Westcoast Transmission, owner of Pacific Northern Gas.

The business agent also warned that the union will picket anywhere that Westcoast Transmission has operations.

Prior to the July negotiations, the IBEW had picketed Westcoast's Taylor plant, but the pickets were called off for the negotiations.

"It was a complete stall tactic by the company so we would take down our pickets," Dowling said. "It suddenly dawned on us that they had no intention of moving from the position they had last February."

Wages for journeymen employees at Pacific Northern Gas are between $7.50 and $8 an hour, but Dowling said the union wants to establish a base rate of $9.64 an hour in the last year of a two-year contract.

Syrup Sequel

MONTREAL (CP) — A firm bottling Quebec maple syrup received an unexpected letter of thanks from Queen Elizabeth on Monday for its shipment to her of two gallons of syrup.

Hyman Weisbord, co-owner of Fin D'Hiver Inc. of nearby St. Hippolyte, said he will frame the letter from Sir Peter Ashmore, Master of the Queen's Household in Buckingham Palace.

Weisbord sent the syrup when he heard that city fathers of Westmount were thinking of closing the taps on the Queen's annual supply of maple syrup because she had not sent her thanks for this year's shipment.

"Both the Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and the Family enjoy greatly its very special and delicious taste," Ashmore wrote. "And her Majesty has asked me to thank you very much for your thoughtful and loyal gift."

BLOOD CLING TODAY

Sales executive Jim Wexler dates everything from January 21, 1969 -- the date of his open heart surgery operation.

He was 49 years old then, a man with 80 percent of his main arteries blocked. Nine months before he had buried his older brother who died of the same condition.

Some years before that his father had died at age 57, also a victim of blocked arteries.

Yet Wexler wasn't afraid for his own life. A businessman who thinks like a businessman, he was confident the operation would be a success.

Not everyone shared his calm. The night before his operation, some friends from his local B'nai Brith chapter donated blood at a Red Cross blood donor clinic to ensure there was adequate supply for Wexler's open heart surgery.

"But I never worried. I knew the blood would be there for the operation," Wexler said. "Hospitals know the tools they need. Blood is one of the tools. I didn't even question it wouldn't be there."

He's 57 now, plays a full round of golf, swims, and sculpts in his spare time.

He says he feels 39 and is convinced he has another 30 years to live.

"I've been closer to dangerous ground than most people," Wexler said. "And I know that while I was in the hospital I never worried. The blood was always there."

But it's not always going to be there unless people come through and make sure there's always enough."

The Red Cross is holding their clinic in Terrace, at the Arena Hall, Banquet Room, Tuesday, August 1, from 2 to 8 p.m.

Island Fire

PARKSVILLE, B.C. (CP) — A 1,500-acre forest fire, 20 kilometres south of this Vancouver Island community, is more or less under control, Tom Williams, spokesman for MacMillan Bloedel Ltd., said today.

Williams said about 250 men were fighting the fire in difficult terrain in the company's Northwest Bay logging division. They were assisted by bulldozers, ground tankers, air tankers and helicopters.

He said about 600 acres of the burned forest was in new slash.

Two Accidents Put Three in Hospital

Two separate auto accidents sent three people to hospital with minor injuries, according to Terrace R.C.P.

Jeff Johnson was taken to hospital after a car driven by his brother Walter Johnson went off the road 16 kilometres east of Terrace Monday morning.

The 1970 Ford rolled and caught fire, also setting fire to nearby grass. The grass fire was extinguished by a passerby.

One other person, Lloyd Johnson, was a passenger in the vehicle, but he was not injured.

The vehicle was a total writeoff. Jimmy Wagner and Ernest Sweet were taken to hospital when a car collided with a motorcycle at the intersection of Ottawa and Greig at about 3 p.m. Sunday.

A Volkswagen stationwagon driven by a 17 year old youth turned onto Ottawa Street and collided with the 1977 Suzuki ridden by the two men.

The youth, whose name was not released, was charge with failing to yield right of way.

Neighborhood youngsters are already enjoying the newest addition to the Parkside school playground - a boom boat. The boat was one of two donated to the school district by Canadian Cellulose of Prince Rupert recently and the school district adapted them for playground purposes and gave them a new coat of paint. The other boom boat is located at Thornhill primary.

Shares Her Memories With Herald Readers

Editor:
I have decided to give you the opportunity of using these pictures. They are the History of Meanskinisht and how the village was.
I take note in reading in Tuesdays paper July 18th. 1978 "Cedarvale Matriarch Proves Her Age" and I can imagine the stories told to the Children and I noted one letter from a boy in Cedarvale, who says, I am glad I live in Cedarvale because someday I wish it would be like the olden days. I am sorry to say those days are gone and only live in the memories of the original descendants of Meanskinisht.

We tried to save the hall built by our grandparents because it is of sentimental value to us.

The petition was not the idea of one person. It was the idea of the original descendants of Meanskinisht.

We DO NOT care less who buys the Salvation Army Property and we have nothing to do with the intended buyer.

The Salvation Army have said, they will do all they can to get back our Hall for us and we are dealing with the Salvation Army and no one else.

We let the Salvation Army know how we felt at the way they went about to sell the property. We believe it should have been properly advertised and the public given a chance to bid. I have been accused of bidding $28,000 on it and several other things have been said which I will not mention. If I had all that money I certainly would not give it to the Salvation Army. I am not that naive. They were given land and building to use and look what they did with it. Once again we are only interested in the building, but, if it is too late for the Salvation Army to get it back then there is nothing more to be said.

Further more Mrs. Sutton was not forced to sign the petition and did so on her own free will.

I will sign this

There is no such thing as free lunch

VANCOUVER—A free lunch at the cost of a full-course dinner is how Insurance Bureau of Canada Deputy Chairman Robert E. Bethell sees the state of the Canadian economy.

In a keynote address to the national convention of the Canada Jaycees

Mr. Bethell, President of the Canadian General Group, said that the economy is in trouble because "for too long we have jogged along in the comfortable belief that there might be a free lunch". He added, however, that people today have been shocked into the realization that "if you ask government for a free lunch it will be provided all right ... but it will cost the price of a full course dinner to pay for it ... in higher taxes, hidden subsidies, extra levies or special surcharges or corporate assessment ... One way or another paid for by you and me."

In explaining "the delusion", Mr. Bethell said that the Japanese worker produces 20 per cent more than his Canadian counterpart, but is paid anywhere from 30 to 50 per cent less. "We've been able to live with this discrepancy in our world trading because we've existed behind tariff barriers against those goods which, produced by countries with workers like the Japanese, could have entered this country at far lower cost than similar goods produced by our labor force," he pointed out.

Mr. Bethell said that Canadians have been paying higher and higher wages for lower productivity. "It wasn't all that long ago that we were second only to the United States in output per capita. But now we have fallen behind West Germany and Japan and France—even behind Australia and Finland."

"I believe that we have finally come to the testing point. We either dig in our heels and say we've had enough of overgrown government and bumptious bureaucracy that's strangling our economy ... or we must be prepared to see our economy crawl to a halt and our individual and collective freedoms slip away," he stated.

"It's not so long ago that there was grave concern in the business world over the apparent lack of trust which the ordinary citizen had for us. There was an obvious drift toward the idea that the free enterprise business world was geared not so much to serving the community but toward enabling the powerful to exploit the weak.

"But thanks to programs such as the Unemployment Insurance Commission, Medicare and LIP grants, thanks to operations like the Post Office, the realization is dawning that big government allows everybody to be exploited. The big credibility gap doesn't exist between the business world and those whom it serves any more; rather it exists between big government and the taxpayers who must dig deeper and deeper to finance its insatiable appetite", Mr. Bethell said.

He touched on the Insurance Corporation of British Columbia's monopoly on car insurance for more than four years, and said that ICBC's record has been "a classic blueprint in the development and growth of a bureaucracy."

"What really concerns me in all this ... and what should concern everyone ... is this basic issue: If ICBC is as good and competitive and efficient as Dr. McGeer and Robbie Sherrell claim it is—then what have they got to be scared of in throwing open the doors to full, fair and free competition?"

Grace McCarthy Smiles

"And we have a lot to smile about," said Grace McCarthy, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Travel Industry. Recently released figures for the month of May show that British Columbia has a record increase in the numbers of visitors from the United States.

The results of the survey showed American vehicles up 7.7 per cent, U.S. citizens staying one or more nights up 10.6 per cent and overseas visitors up 14.5 per cent. In Canada, American entries decreased in every province during the month of May with the exception of British Columbia.

As an additional boost to what is obviously going to be a bumper tourism year, Tourism British Columbia's Super Smile Campaign is gaining momentum daily. For the hospitality and service industries, 300,000 Super Smile Buttons, two million place mats, 10,000 cash register stickers and 5,000 billboard stickers have been distributed throughout the province.

The entire program, which is the envy of other provinces, will be completed at a cost of approximately $135,000.00—not $2.5 million as erroneously reported in the press a few weeks ago. Last year, British Columbia hosted 11 million visitors, making the special smile less than a penny per person.

Mrs. McCarthy said, "We are asking all people in the hospitality industry to wear this special button as a warm greeting to our visitors with a feeling that says—we care—we're glad you're here—come back again."

Super Smile supplies are available at "Smile Quarters", 688-2471. For further information contact John Plul, 688-2861.

Brave Stewardess

NEW YORK Reuter - A 28-year-old airline stewardess told police she narrowly escaped death Saturday when a mugger threw her into the path of a subway train and then kicked her in the face as she tried to climb to safety, despite bruises and a leg injury, Anne Pleyk led police to her apartment where the assailant was captured while looting the apartment after having gained entry with her house keys.

Miss Pleyk was on her way to work at 4:30 a.m. EDT when the assailant—the only other person in the subway station—drew a knife and put it to her throat, police said. After taking her flight bag, jewelry and purse, he flung her to the tracks.

As she tried to climb back to the platform to escape and oncoming train, the man kicked her in the face. He then fled and she scrambled to safety seconds before the train pulled alongside the platform.

Devereaux Wiggins, 28, was charged with attempted murder, robbery burglary and assault. Police said he told them he had pushed three other robbery victims off subway platforms, including a 90-year-old man.

Editor's Note

..The HERALD is indebted to the persons responsible for lending us these very interesting photographs and descriptions that go with them, of the life and times of the early days of Meanskinisht (now Cedarvale).

..Each passing year brings the loss of another building, another monument, another piece of history. A tombstone may be stolen or destroyed by vandals. A once-sacred piece of property sold. A church-bell "lost". One by one the "old timers" with the phenomenal memories of names, places and deeds, dies. A building burns - and with it priceless records and objects of a by-gone way of life. The friendliness, the willingness to help one's neighbour and to share even the last crust of bread or piece of fish - the taking of a person at his word, these are some of the values that those who remember the old way, miss and mourn. By pictures and stories, such as we are carrying on this page, today's generation is enabled to cross the gap of years - and possibly benefit from that link - however brief.

Parks won't lifeguard on nude 'dangerous' beach

VANCOUVER (CP) — The parks board will not provide funding for a lifeguard at the city's Wreck Beach, which is frequented by nude bathers, acting board chairman Mary Ann Fowler said Sunday.

Fowler said, however, nudity is not the problem. "If we felt that we should have a lifeguard there we'd ask city council for the money," she said. "But we don't want a lifeguard in a dangerous swimming area."

Fowler said the currents and tide off Wreck Beach are very dangerous and the presence of lifeguards would make the beach seem like a safe place to many people.

"We don't want to encourage people to swim there and we don't want to encourage parents to leave their children in the hands of lifeguards," she said.

Last week, following the drowning of a youth at the beach, a Vancouver lifeguard recruited several volunteers and spent $800 of his own money to set up a safety station on the beach.

Fowler said that while the issue of nudity hasn't been discussed by the board, "we can't pay for something that would be allowing public nudity." "We can't condone breaking the law," she said.

Damage high in Vanc. fires

VANCOUVER (CP) — Damage was extensive but there were no serious injuries in three separate fires in the Vancouver area over the weekend.

More than 60 firefighters were called to a fire Saturday which destroyed a building supplies firm.

A fire department spokesman said today the damage estimates ranged from $150,000 to $250,000 after fire destroyed the lumber-yard, hardware supplies, second-story offices and an empty three-bedroom penthouse.

Fire department officials said the fire could have been started by an electrical short circuit in a table saw used earlier in the day. Arson has been ruled out, they said.

Meanwhile, fire officials said they were investigating the possibility of arson in a fire Saturday at Vancouver General Hospital.

Tom Slater, assistant fire chief, said the fire caused extensive damage to the main floor of the old doctor's residence located on hospital property. He said the cause has not been determined but "it looks pretty suspicious right now."

A hospital administrator said the building was being used as a temporary out-patient clinic but was vacant when the fire broke out.

A church in nearby New Westminister was extensively damaged early today in a fire which officials said probably started in the basement.

Firemen said the first floor of the structure was heavily damaged but no one was injured in the blaze.

MLA Kahl sued

VICTORIA (CP) — John Brewin, past president of the British Columbia New Democratic Party, has accepted an out-of-court settlement in a libel action against Lyle Kahl (SC-Esquamalt) and Victoria television station CHEK.

Brewin's lawyer Dave Vickers says.

Vickers said he would issue a statement on the matter later in the week.

Brewin has declined comment on the settlement.

Vickers launched the action on Oct. 21 charging Kahl with making libelous statements about Brewin on CHEK during the October ferry strike.

Brewin, who has since stepped down as party president, was representing the ferry workers union during the strike.

Marsh World

LITTLE BROWN BATS (Myotis lucifugus) are small insectivorous bats which inhabit the forest and wetland regions of North America. They roost during the day in caves, hollow trees or farm buildings. In the evening, guided by their amazing sonar senses, they can be seen flying erratically through forests or over marshes feeding on insects which they catch in their wing or tail membranes. They will often swoop within inches to catch mosquitos attracted by humans or animals.

Supermarkets reach agreement

VANCOUVER (CP) — Negotiators for 5,000 British Columbia supermarket employees and food companies reached a tentative contract agreement Sunday after a weekend of bargaining.

George Johnston, spokesman for the meatcutters' local of the Canadian Food and Allied Workers Union, said the three unions involved will recommend acceptance of the agreement when membership votes are held this week. Details of the settlement were not released.

The agreement comes one week after members of the Retail Clerks Union joined meatcutters and bakers in endorsing strike action against members of the B.C. Food Industry Labor Relations Council. Contracts for all three unions expired March 31.

The three unions had rejected the council's last offer in June, which called for a one-year contract with wage increases from four to six per cent.

The council bargains for Canada Safeway Ltd., Super Valu Stores Ltd., Stongs Markets, Mark It, Lodom, Hi-Lo and Shop Easy stores.

Meanwhile, Gary Neilly, vice-president of Nabob Foods Ltd., said Sunday the company will ask mediator Peter Dowding to report out of a dispute at the Burnaby,

B.C., plant, allowing Nabob to proceed with 72-hour lockout notice.

About 250 employees, members of the Canadian Allied Manufacturing, Wholesale and Retail Union, voted 87 per cent Saturday to reject Nabob's latest offer.

The offer called for a return to a five-day work week from the current four-day week, no wage increase and a seven-per cent compensatory increase, Neilly said.

He said the four-day week is hurting Nabob's competitive position. No wage increase was offered, he said, because Nabob pays its workers 32 per cent more than other Canadian food manufacturers.

Court martial for grass

VICTORIA (CP) — Pte. John E. Walker, 20, of the Canadian Forces fleet school here will face court martial Thursday for possession of marijuana.

M. Cpl. George Cruickshank, 33, was convicted Friday of possession of marijuana, and demoted to private.

Earlier Pte. Kimberly Atkinson, 18, another student at the fleet school, was sentenced to eight months in prison after being convicted on two counts of trafficking in marijuana and one count of attempted trafficking.

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS ABOUT CANDY

Proteins, minerals, vitamins, carbohydrates, fats or combinations of these nutrients are provided by the nonsugar ingredients, such as chocolate, nuts, fruits and milk, used in candy. These ingredients contribute to the nutritive merit of candy, as well as to its texture and taste.

A good, balanced diet includes six basic essentials: proteins, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins, minerals and water. At least two (and usually more) of these are found in every ingredient used in the manufacture of candy. For instance, molasses has a good amount of calcium and iron, and chocolate liquor contains riboflavin, calcium and iron.

Recent research has shown that it's no longer necessary for diabetics to eliminate sugar entirely. In fact, indications are that overweight is far more likely to affect diabetes than any other nutritional factor.

The CBC: Irresponsible Journalism

The first item on several newscasts by the CBC on Friday and Saturday was a reported suggestion by the Law Society of Canada that the Queen should no longer be the Queen of Canada, and that a prominent Canadian should be chosen to replace the position she now holds as symbolic head of our country.

Immediately following this item was a report on the visit of the Queen, in Canada. No explanation was made, although many Canadians do not realize it the Queen is here by invitation only; primarily to open the British Commonwealth Games in Edmonton.

Third - great prominence was given to the different version of the Queen's speech in English and in French - as if the Queen had written the speech, herself (she never does). Her Canadian speeches are written entirely by Canadians, in the employ of the Canadian government and always checked over thoroughly by members of the diplomatic corps.

To top this all off, of course, and add to the Queen's embarrassment (again, remember, she hadn't asked to come, she was invited by Canada) Canada's own prime minister stayed away on holidays in Morocco.

Now add all this up, and what do you get? Was the suggestion by the Law Society the top news of the day? Really?

Canada's dollar had just slipped badly, once again. A major trade deficit for the first month in some time had just been announced. At least one major breakthrough in lifesaving medicine had been released within the previous 24 hours. Thousands of Canadian women yearning to have babies of their own were besieging medical authorities for information on how they could have a "test tube" conception that would them to bear a child of their own husbands and their "flesh and blood".

Throughout the Canadian arctic dramatic, exciting, death-defying drama was taking place - unnoticed.

But, what did we get on T.V. and radio?

That Canada's Law Society thinks Canada should drop the Queen - announced right during the Queen's visit, while she is being received and attending functions to which Canada had invited her!

And not even our own Prime Minister in this country to do the Chivalrous thing by going to his lady monarch's defense - even by way of suggesting that she had never ever asked for the job, anyway. Or that if anyone thinks the Queen's task of having to appear pleasant under the extremes of heat and cold of Canadian weather, never knowing when some separatist bomb or anti-monarchist shot might ring out - is a cinch, they should try it!

The CBC has, not long ago, survived an enquiry initiated, I believe, by Trudeau, himself, to decide whether it had been fanning the fires of separatism or disunity by slanted journalism. It appears to have ignored the biggest-ever crowds that turned out wherever members of the Royal Family appeared, in Canada. Above and in spite of the visual facts, the CBC gave prominence to lawyers recommendation Canada drop its Queen. And this is what it chose as its top news item, time and again, over the weekend.

Our hat goes off to Bruce Phillips, CTV commentator, who summed up the week as being one of "Good News" - and reminded listeners and viewers of the brave attempt by man to cross the Atlantic by balloon, the Pacific ocean in a dugout canoe, and the birth of a beautiful baby to loving parents.

Now that CBC is losing Peter Kent - perhaps they should make Bruce an "offer he can't refuse".

OTTAWA OFFBEAT

by Richard Jackson

In Ottawa - as elsewhere in Canada when the size of minority population warrants - it's the provision of federal government services in either "official language," as English and French are bureaucratically known.

But at one point at least in Ottawa, it means more than that.

It means individual and exclusive service for each language group.

On the mail box at the corner of Churchill and Avondale Avenues, the postal Pickup schedule is posted ... for English, 10 a.m.; for French, 11 a.m.

Taken literally it would mean that the truck picks up the English mail first, then an hour later returns for the French.

Where that would leave the Kowalskis, the Chinkiwskis, the Mendozas, and all the others whose mother tongue isn't one of the two official languages, only the Post Office knows.

But if it does, it doesn't seem to care. Because the two-time, two-language pickup schedule has been there for weeks.

But in other parts of Ottawa-Hull - now the officially designated National Capital, and never mind what Queen Victoria decreed - bilingualism means "speak French."

And no kidding. It's an order from Supply and Services Minister Jean-Pierre Goyer, who, with his 4,500 departmental employees, has moved from Ottawa to Hull.

They like some 15,000 public servants have crossed the Ottawa River to Hull where the federal government has spent nearly $1 billion on a vast complex of new office towers and new streets, sewers, and other facilities to serve them.

The overwhelming majority of Goyer's 4,500-member staff - like the other departments that have shifted to Hull - speak English.

But "Speak French in the shopping malls in the new government buildings and on the street," orders Goyer, "to show that you're open-minded about the language situation."

Never mind if you can't speak French.

"Try," demands Goyer, "and show that two languages is not really a problem but a cultural plus."

"The majority of people in Hull are French," he says in a prepared speech to his staff, "and they are expecting that we speak French to them."

"So if we make the effort it will demonstrate that this region of the country is truly a bilingual national capital and serving well as a model and example to the rest of the country."

"We have to make some sacrifices if we want to open minds and change attitudes. So now that you are in Hull, make the best of it and speak French."

As the opening of the new Supply and Services departmental headquarters was not exactly a social occasion, nobody was called upon to respond to Mr. Goyer's call to bilingual arms.

But the funny thing is that while Goyer exhorts his English employees in Hull to "speak French," the newspapers and radio and TV stations report the French shopkeepers in Hull are speaking English.

"If we don't," a member of the Hull Chamber of Commerce was quoted, "if we don't speak English, we don't do much business with the thousands of English civil servants from Ottawa who work here and live there."

Which perhaps only goes to show you that the dollar is stronger even than Jean-Pierre Goyer, and speaks English even in French Quebec.

Alcan Dividends

MONTREAL - The directors of Alcan Aluminium Limited today declared a quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share, U.S. Funds, on the common shares of the company, payable 5 September 1978 to shareholders of record at the close of business 7 August 1978. This is the maximum dividend permitted for this quarter under the Canadian Anti-Inflation Board.

The number of Alcan Aluminium Limited common shares issued and outstanding is 40,446,694.

A quarterly dividend of 43 cents per share in Canadian currency was declared on the remaining outstanding 4 1/4 percent preferred shares of $40 par value of the company, payable 15 October 1978 to preferred shareholders of record at the close of business 29 September 1978.

Part Three

A FLAME WITHIN THE SPEARHEAD

Part Three of "A Flame Within The Spearhead" - a poetic rendition of a prose speech to 40 teachers of Eskimos, given at Akudlik a number of years ago, reiterates the importance of the individual pupil's name - to that individual, as well as to his people, and the importance of respect for the Native language and culture.

The speaker, Professor Robert G. Williamson, a renowned "Eskimologist", who made himself fluent in the Inuit language in a remarkably short time following his arrival at Pangnirtung, Baffin Island, twenty or so years ago, is a recognized non-Native authority on the contemporary Eskimo, and to some extent, also, Eskimo anthropology. He has lectured at the Institute for Northern Studies, at the University of Saskatchewan at Saskatoon, Sask. He has been a frequent contributor to "The Muskox" - the journal of the Muskox Circle, and a member of the Arctic Institute of North America.

Professor Williamson had no idea at the time that his speech to the teachers was being recorded and transposed, and he expressed himself pleased by its publication in The TAIGA TIMES - every issue of which sold out each time the prose poem was reprinted.

Native groups, such as the Dene Nation, the Canadian Cree Community in Canada, the Metis Society in Manitoba - as well as UNESCO and universities around the world (including one in New Zealand) have expressed great interest in the epic, and sought reprints of it for use among teachers of indigenous peoples, including Australian aborigines and Maoris.

You well may ask me - is this true today? And I must teach a little anthropology and talk of attitudinal lag based on the processes of cultural persistence, asking you to look in on ourselves and back into our history, and trace the usages that carry on with us, though founded on a way of life long past. If I make a mistake in saying your name, why do you correct me? What happens to the person whom we cannot name? Imagine for a moment that your name is unsure, and all around the people speak it differently or give you different names, or worst of all - are quite indifferent to your name. Who are you, anyway, and what is more - who cares? Doesn't all that frighten you a bit, and make you lonely, insecure? I ask again, then, why?

With his people Carried his beliefs into their minds. But even so His basic call Made him Unlikely as a confident In this regard. Less likely yet Is this new eras' paid exponent Of The System From The South, Identified as such

By name And house And daily classroom work. But some of us have heard The ancient concepts well enough, And still can document Persistence, Reinterpretation And defense. I tell you all of this Because There yet remains a task to do, A team to build in every settlement To bring The northern child Securely on his way, And rescue him from wandering Ambivalent Between the flesh that made him, and The teacher who controls his life.

Some Australians once believed that they could encourage their beards to grow by stroking their chins with a stone that resembled a long-whiskered rat.

Beer is probably the oldest alcoholic drink, according to The World Book Encyclopedia. The Babylonians and Egyptians brewed it more than 6,000 years ago.

HERMAN

"If we don't go to the zoo tomorrow, you'd better get yourself a good lawyer."

Vancouver Board of Trade OPEN AND SHUT

Sunday shopping - hardly an "open and shut" case in Vancouver these days. We can all be forgiven for a certain amount of confusion: a feeling, we believe, that is compounded by actions at City Hall.

As usual, in any controversy attracting attention, there are many different points of view. We have, on the one hand, businesses operating as mini-department stores. They have been used to setting their own hours, in many cases seven days a week. They see themselves as offering convenience to shoppers. Certainly there are few of us who have not had occasion to bless their actions, either late one evening or on a Sunday afternoon.

But for any convenience, be it shopping or packaged food there is a price tag. Longer hours for stores mean higher wage bills. Unless these can be offset by an increase in consumer spending (instead of the same amount spread over more hours) the cost will be passed on to us in higher prices. This is an argument that might be weakened in a booming economy but in the shape we are in today, a substantial increase in consumer spending hardly makes the top of the "ten most possibilities".

If the thought that longer hours eventually cost US, the purchasers, not the retailers, is not persuasive then we might consider the legality of the matter. The original argument for closing was compliance with the Lord's Day Observance Act. This statute is still on the books but is more honoured by its breach than its observance! While Canada is still correctly regarded as a Christian country, there are many Canadians who walk a different path. The relevance of the Act may be questionable but, we suggest, it would be better to either observe and enforce it or to repeal it.

Those of us who look to City Hall for guidance and a firm decision have been disappointed but we should hasten to add that the City has its problems. It is in the position of a cowboy trying to rope a steer with his hands tied behind his back!

The City of Vancouver is governed by a Charter issued under a special Act of the Legislature in Victoria. The Charter is reviewed annually and, if thought desirable or necessary, amended by a Private Member's Bill in the House. Both the 1977 and 1978 Amendment Bills contained a clause which would have given the City real control over shopping hours within the city limits. Last year's Bill did not complete its passage through the House. This year's was proclaimed without the clause referring to shopping hours, it being removed during debate in the house.

Since the city issues permits and licences to city businesses, it would seem that the control of other shopping conditions, eg. hours of operation, should logically lie with the City. Without this authority, the City can only cajole the offenders into conformity. This is an undignified method and not likely to be effective. The City can bluster and hope that the Attorney General gives it permission to prosecute. It would seem that progress could be made if the Attorney General enforced the Act throughout the entire province or, if by public demand, the Federal Government repealed the Lord's Day Observance Act.

We hope that concerned citizens might review the problem and, perhaps, through positive action, help to end this mindless bickering.

Two skateboarders of varying ages practice the giant Slalom course on old highway 16 in preparation for the skateboard championships

Recreation chatter

Skateboard championships and fun week coming up

On Friday, August 4 skateboarders of all ages will be able to test their skills in the giant slalom-race-hill climb and free style as well as on a specially designed skill courses ... and "it's all free."

The slalom and hill climb will be held between 1 and 3 pm on the old Highway 16 opposite the weigh scales and the skills course and free style events will be held at the arena from 4 pm on the same day.

Interested skateboarders may practice this coming Tuesday and Thursday at the arena between 3 and 4 pm for the skill course.

You do not have to be good to enter, just come and have fun and test your skills.

In other recreation news, children's free tennis lessons went over great. Their last day was Thursday, July 27. All the children seemed to improve greatly thanks to their coach Mrs. Little.

She did an excellent job with the 21 children. Thank-you very much, we all loved the lessons.

20 children have already registered for the August 14 to 18 soccer school. The school will be held at Clarence Michael school for all you interested and eager kids. It's open for all ages between 6 and 16 both boys and girls. We are hoping for a big turnout so register now to avoid disappointment.

The summer outdoor recreation program is not taking registration for the one week event of backpacking and hiking.

Harold Harms is going to be the instructor of the course and he is hoping to take the group on an overnight hike. Register now, we are limited to 20 people.

The events for the fun and fitness week to be held in Terrace between August 25 to August 31 have also been announced.

On Friday Aug. 25 there will be a street dance to be organized by Sharon Lough.

On Saturday Aug. 26 swim relay races will be organized by the pool staff. It's open to invited teams but no swim club is allowed.

There will also be a belly flop contest organized by the pool staff with a 240 pound and over class.

An inner tube water polo game organized by Bruce Miller will be held on Sunday Aug. 27. It begins at 2 pm in the pool and there will be eight teams of seven people.

On the same day Trevor Whitaker will organize a cross country race. It will take place up the Terrace Nature Trail and is open to Friday. Practices for the skill and free style events will be Tuesday and Thursday between 3 and 4:30 p.m. at the arena.

all competitors. The race begins at 10 am from the arena.

A tug-o-war will highlight Monday Aug. 28th activities. John Nattress will organize this event involving teams from Pohle Lumber, Price Skeena, Twin River Timber, RCMP, Firemen, District of Terrace Public Works, Norsemen Rugby Team, and the Men's SOCCER TEAM IF THEY ARE INTERESTED IN PARTICIPATING.

This event will take place at the Lower Little Park at 7 p.m.

Jennifer Brooks will organize a cycle race on Tuesday Aug. 29. It will be broken into age groups of 12 to 15, 17 to 39 and 40 and over. A certain route will be determined.

On Wednesday Aug. 30 a mixed broomball game will take place in the arena. Local banks will be asked to enter teams and Phil Stewart will organize the event.

On Thursday Aug. 31 the entire recreation staff will organize a volleyball tournament. Teams competing will be mixed mens and womens. This event will be held in Lower Little Park.

The entry deadline for all events will be no later than August 21.

Fishing report

By Don Pearson - Custom Sports

Low Tide was at 7 a.m. of 3.4 feet and High Tide was at 1:30 p.m. of 12.5 feet.

Douglas Channel fishing over the weekend was plagued with Killer Whales and this made fishing for some quite difficult and for others good if they happened to be where the whales weren't competing with them.

The weekend report was 13 Coho, 11 Pinks and 18 Spring. This was made up from Sue Channel fish and some Bishop Bay fish.

A life guard's job is hot and noisy

Ah, the life of a swimming pool lifeguard. All you do is sit around by the cool water and pretend to watch the kids. No problems, no worries, right?

If you really believe this then talk to the lifeguards at the Terrace swimming pool. "It's really boring, noisy and hot," says Bruce Miller the pool superintendent.

The pool staff estimates with the hot weather Terrace has been experiencing the last week, the pool has been averaging 130 kids an afternoon between the ages of 10 to 12 years old.

How do you keep an eye on 130 kids at one time. Well once the pool gets over one hundred kids the staff puts three lifeguards on duty. More than 150 kids and they don't allow any more into the water.

"We use preventative guarding," says Miller. "You try to stop accidents before they happen. You watch for rough games and stuff."

"You've got to watch the little kids. Their bigger friends go to the deep end to dive and they try to go too."

The guards also have to switch off regularly says Elaine Hottot Recreation attendant 11. "It's not good to guard for more than 15 minutes to half an hour. Beyond that you start thinking about home or something else and you can't concentrate."

Hottot says even though there may be 130 kids in the pool there is still plenty of room for them to practice their swimming.

"The pool looks crowded but once you are in the water there is plenty of room to swim around."

"If they can get under the water and blow bubbles they're starting to learn to swim."

But just what do all those little kids do all afternoon.

"They play tag and have different little contests," says Hottot.

"They have diving contests off the side of the pool, swim around underwater, splash. Today some were pretending they were shooting each other and were falling into the pool. A real social thing happens."

With this number of kids

you might think there would be some discipline problems but Miller says not.

"Not the last little while. They've been pretty good. A couple of years ago we had a rowdy bunch but most are pretty good."

She does add they do have some problems with theft from the changing rooms.

Lockers are provided which can be rented for a dime, but Miller says some of the kids think this is too much to spend for the protection of their goods.

CEL ACTION TONIGHT

Eastern pivots still in question

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Rotating quarterbacks will likely be the name of the game for Ottawa Roughriders and Hamilton Tiger-Cats in Canadian Football League action tonight.

Both clubs, who have been utilizing the two-quarterback system this year, head into their interlocking games with Western Conference opponents still undecided on who will start at the pivot.

The two teams are also missing key players with injuries.

The Roughriders are in Edmonton to face the Eskimos, while the Tiger-Cats visit Vancouver to play British Columbia Lions.

Head coach George Brancato of the Riders (1-1) is keeping quiet on whether he will start Tom Clements or Condredge Holloway. Their prime target, tightend Tony Gabriel, sat out practice Sunday with a sore left leg, but is expected to play tonight.

Brancato also hopes a reorganized defensive lineup can contain the high-scoring Eskimos, led by veteran quarterback Tom Wilkinson.

"Eskimos are throwing the hell out of the ball," said Brancato. "It's like a basketball game with Wilkinson in there... and all those great receivers." NEW SYSTEM

Despite the fact middle linebacker Charles Anthony has been placed on the injury reserve list with a pulled hamstring, Brancato has been experimenting with a three-four defensive alignment.

The Riders have picked up former Toronto Argonaut

1984 Olympics

Financing idea termed strange

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The idea of the U.S. Olympic Committee (USOC) assuming the financial risk for the 1984 Olympic Games was termed strange by a Los Angeles city councillor Monday.

USOC president Robert Kane was quoted by Coun. Ernani Bernardi as saying two months ago that the USOC did not have money to provide a financial backing for the Games.

Awarding of the 1984 Games to Los Angeles has been held up over the issue of financial responsibility on the city's part. Los Angeles has been the only city formally bidding for the Games, but the International Olympic Committee (IOC) will look for another city if agreement on financial terms is not reached by Aug. 21—a deadline that was recently extended from July 31.

The USOC and Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley have not made public any details of the plan, which was announced in Colorado Springs, Colo., on Sunday. Kane said it would have to be presented to the IOC before details could be made public.

Bernardi has been among Los Angeles officials opposing any city financial backing of 1984 Olympics. He quoted Kane as telling him during a telephone conversation two months ago: "We don't have any money. We don't have any money at all."

USOC BEGGING
Bernardi said Kane added that the USOC has to beg for money to take care of U.S. athletes.

Bradley was not available for immediate comment on ernardi's statement, but an aide to the mayor said he is unlikely to comment.

Sullivan said he is unfamiliar with USOC finances. But he added that the quote attributed to Kane by Bernardi may have referred to lack of money to send athletes to the Olympics.

"I don't think that necessarily correlates with this (1984 financial backing). I don't necessarily think this means they have the money in the bank," Sullivan said.

Ron Foxx to bolster the linebacking core of Tim Berryman, John Glassford and Mike Wager.

Head coach Hugh Campbell of the Eskimos, who have won three consecutive games, including a 46-11 triumph over Saskatchewan Roughriders last week, said his club will have been strong against the eastern Riders. "They're a good football team and I don't think many of the clubs in the West will beat them this season," he said.

"If we're able to beat them, the two points would be a feather in our caps. Sort of a bonus I don't think many western teams will achieve."

In Vancouver, Hamilton (1-2) coach Tom Dimitroff has yet to designate his starting quarterback—Tom Shuman or Jimmy Jones.

Whoever gets the call, will likely put the ball in the air a lot with running back Jimmy Edwards sidelined with a foot injury.

Edwards, who rushed for a league-leading 1,581 yards last season, was placed on the 30-day injured reserve list Sunday.

Vince Allen, a five-foot-seven, 185-pounder from Indiana State and a recent cut of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, will start in place of Edwards.

PLAYERS INJURED
Besides Edwards, the Tiger-Cats will also be without defensive end Angelo Wells, defensive tackle Al Romano and offensive tackle Al Moffat.

Former Ottawa-Toronto defensive lineman Rudy Sims has been activated by Hamilton to fill Romano's spot.

"He's in good shape, weighs about 252," said Dimitroff. "A guy with his experience could be valuable to us."

B.C. head coach Vic Rapp said the Lions can't be lulled to sleep by the Hamilton injury situation.

"Sometimes when a team has its back to the wall like Hamilton when they're wounded, that's when they play best."

The Lions (1-1) are coming off a tough, hard-hitting 19-19 tie with Calgary Stampeders last week, but are relatively healthy.

Defensive back Ken Hinton, who injured a shoulder in the game, practiced over the weekend and may start. If he can't play Canadian Hal Lund will be activated.

In games Wednesday, Montreal Alouettes play in Toronto and Winnipeg plays host to Saskatchewan.

Sports briefs

LONDON (AFP) — The Gaystars XI, the first homosexual soccer team, has been registered with the Sussex Football Federation and will play its first match this season.

The team was recruited by Norman Redman, a homosexual referee from the English south coast town of Littlehampton, through the use of a membership card for campaigning for homosexual equality.

"We're going to play football and win," said Redman, who wants to prove that homosexuals can play just as well as heterosexuals.

First Division club Coventry City has already turned down a Gaystars' request for a match.

The Gaystars XI will play in a Royal blue stripe with their hair dyed the same color. The team's hairdresser commented: "A lot of footballers go in for perms these days. I'm quite happy if they want something daring."

LATE OUSTER
ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (Reuter) — More than two weeks after the British Open golf championships ended, Scotsman Sam Torrance was disqualified. The Royal and Ancient, golf's governing body, said Monday Torrance had played his second shot to the first green from out of bounds on his second round. He will be allowed to keep his prize money, about $330, for qualifying for the Open.

DECLINE OFFER
MADRID (AP) — Real Madrid soccer club said Monday midfielder Jose Martinez, known as Pirri, and centre forward Carlos (Sanillana) Alonso have declined invitations to play for New York Cosmos of the North American Soccer League against an all-star Argentine select team on Aug. 30. They were unable to accept because their team opens its season Aug. 29 against West Germany's Hamburg club.

STANDING LOWERED
MARSTRAND, Sweden (Reuter) — Toronto yachtsmen Tom Matthews and Jay Cross were moved down in the standings to 27th place from 15th as a result of five protests filed after Sunday's opening race in the 470 Class world dinghy sailing championships.

PERMITS ISSUED
LONDON (Reuter) — Work permits were issued Monday to the two Argentine World Cup soccer stars signed earlier this month by English First Division club, Tottenham Hotspur. The decision to grant work permits to Osvaldo Ardiles and Ricardo Villa, who signed for $1,425,000, was announced in Parliament by government employment under secretary John Grant.

BEAN IS TOPS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Andy Bean holds a narrow lead over Jack Nicklaus on the weekly Professional Golfers' Association's moneywinner's list released Monday. Bean heads the list with earnings of $245,558 on the tour this year to $243,622 for Nicklaus. Completing the top 10 were Tom Watson, $222,279; Lee Trevino, $203,920; South African Gary Player, $188,016; Hubert Green, $158,934; Hale Irwin, $152,696; Bill Kratzert, $150,380; Andy North, $140,517; and Gil Morgan, $119,506.

SKIER HAS SURGERY
LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Lise-Marie Morerod, Switzerland's World Cup overall woman's champion in 1977 and giant slalom titlist in 1978 who was seriously injured in a car accident July 22, underwent surgery Monday on her skull and pelvis. Morerod was a passenger in one of the two vehicles involved in the collision on a rural Swiss road. Hospital authorities would not comment on her chances of resuming competitive skiing.

Rose rolls on

Niekro strikes out 10 Reds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati's Pete Rose hit a single to right in the sixth inning of the Reds' game against Atlanta Braves Monday night, pulling even with Wee Willie Keeler's 44-game hitting streak and continuing a full-speed-ahead attack on Joe DiMaggio's 56-game mark.

Phil Niekro was the victim of Rose's hit, which brought him even with the National League record Keeler set in 1897. The slugger's assault on DiMaggio's standard, set in 1941, drew 45,007—the biggest crowd of the season—to the park in Atlanta as the Reds trimmed the Braves, 3-2.

Niekro struck out 10 Reds but gave up a second-inning home run to Johnny Bench and RBI hits in the ninth to Cesar Geronimo and pinch-hitter Joe Morgan. The Braves runs scored on a fifth-inning sacrifice fly by Biff Pocoroba and a ninth-inning, bases-loaded grounder by Jeff Burroughs.

Meanwhile, Rose walked to lead off the game, lined to short in the fourth inning and grounded out to first in his final two at-bats.

In the other National League games, Philadelphia Phillies dominated New York 6-1, Montreal trimmed Pittsburgh 3-2, Houston topped San Francisco 4-1, and San Diego nipped Los Angeles 4-3.

In American League action, Boston bombed Chicago 9-2, New York bested Texas 6-1, Toronto edged Detroit 8-7 in 14 innings, Cleveland defeated Kansas City 4-3, Oakland blanked California 2-0 and Milwaukee's game against Baltimore was suspended after nine innings with the score tied 5-5.

RAIN DELAY

The Brewers-Orioles game was delayed by rain for two hours, 20 minutes after the top half of the ninth. It is to be resumed at 6:30 p.m., EDT, Wednesday before the next game between the clubs.

Baltimore curfew laws prohibit the start of a full inning after 11:59 p.m. on weekdays. But the ninth inning had started nearly 2½ hours earlier, with Cecil Cooper's single tying the game, so the bottom of the inning was allowed to be played.

Greg Luzinski's bases-loaded double keyed a four-run sixth and led the Phillies past the Mets. Ninth-inning RBI hits by Chris Speier and Ed Herrmann lifted the Expos over the Pirates.

Joe Niekro pitched a two-hitter to lead Houston past San Francisco.

Ozzie Smith got four hits and scored the winning run as San Diego beat Los Angeles for its club record seventh consecutive victory. The Padres' Eric Rasmussen won his eighth straight decision.

BOSTON EXPLODES

The Red Sox, who had scored five runs in their last six games, exploded for nine to win their second game in the last eight. Ed Figueroa tossed a four-hitter and won his fourth straight as New York downed Texas.

Otto Velez hit a 14th-inning homer to lift Toronto over Detroit. A ninth-inning, bases-loaded single by pinch-hitter Jim Norris helped Cleveland hand Kansas City only its third loss in 17 games.

Matt Keough, Dave Heaverlo and Elias Sosa combined on a seven-hitter for Oakland.

Weightlifter optimistic about Canadian team

The Canadian Press
Russ Prior, the veteran of Canada's weightlifting team, is optimistic that the host country will give a good account of itself at the Commonwealth Games.

"We've got a 132-pounder for us, and he'll place in the top five," said Prior about Michel Mercier.

"We have a 198-pounder by the name of Terry Hadlow, and I think he will come up with three bronze medals. We have two 245-pounders, myself and Wayne Smith. Both of us should do very well."

"We have a super heavy by the name of John Cardinal who will come up with a bronze and probably a silver."

Prior, a 28-year-old native of Hamilton who will teach in Winnipeg this fall, finished eighth over-all in the Montreal Olympics.

Prior won the over-all Commonwealth title in both 1970 and 1974 and, barring injury, should do it again. He competes in the 110-kilogram class.

SEES GOOD CHANCE

"If we win two body weight classes, we stand a good chance of winning the team title," he said. "The team that wins is not necessarily the guys who win the most medals. It is more important to place in the top five. You get points all the way down to five."

Mercier, 23, from Lasalle, Que., will compete in the 62-kilogram class and is coming off a 15th-place finish at the 1977 world championships.

Hadlow, 20, born in North Bay, Ont., and a resident of Ottawa, was fifth in the junior world championships last year after an eighth-place finish in 1976.

He recently broke five Canadian records, three in the snatch and two over-all.

"Hadlow is a master at the snatch," said Aldo Roy, one of the members of the selection committee. "His technique is excellent."

IS A BOILERMAKER

Bob Santavy, a boiler-maker from Sarnia, Ont., will compete in the 100-kilogram class. He was second at the 1970 Commonwealth Games at Edinburgh, Scotland.

Cardinal, 22, who stands six-foot-six and weighs 300 pounds, is a medical student from the University of Ottawa. The native of Kingston, Ont., recently set a Canadian record for the clean and jerk, 211 kilograms or 465.5 pounds, breaking Prior's mark.

There are 10 categories involving two lifts—snatch, and clean and jerk—with medals awarded for each as well as a medal for the over-all total.

The snatch involves lifting the weight in one movement from the floor to arm's length, while the clean and jerk involves two stages.

The weight is first lifted from the floor to the shoulders and then to arm's length. The lifter must show the official he is in complete control of the weight before he can drop it to the floor.

Each country is permitted a maximum of 10 lifters with a maximum of two per event. Canada will not compete in the 52 kilogram or 56-kilogram classes.

Guyana wins race

CALGARY (CP) — Eon d'Ornellas of Toronto won the pre-Commonwealth Games bicycle road race Sunday by completing the 4½-mile course in three hours, 36.50 minutes.

The 26-year-old native of Guyana recently became eligible to compete for Canada's national cycling team when he received his citizenship papers.

He finished three minutes ahead of Martin Cramaro of Hamilton, Remo Sansonelli of Australia and Pierre Harvey of Quebec City, who were all given the same time.

The first of 24 cyclists to finish the race out of a starting field of 52 had to contend with driving rain and cold temperatures.

$1 million to study poor province

OTTAWA (CP) — The Economic Council of Canada today begins a two-year, $1 million study of the economy of Newfoundland, Canada's poorest province.

Prime Minister Trudeau and Newfoundland Premier Frank Moores announced Monday their governments had asked the ECC to undertake a fundamental reassessment of Newfoundland's development policies.

Its objective is to ensure that future government programs are designed to help the province reach its economic potential. Conservative MP John Crosbie of St. John's West immediately dismissed the effort as "another government excuse for inaction."

He said in a telephone interview the government already has more studies of Newfoundland's economic problems than it needs. The last thing it should spend taxpayers' money on was another one.

LOW PRODUCTIVITY

Prime Minister Trudeau announced at the first ministers' conference in February that he would set up a special study to determine why productivity in Newfoundland is, and has traditionally been, lower than anywhere else in Canada.

The province had a June unemployment rate of 17.3 per cent—almost double the national rate of 8.6 per cent. There were 34,000 unemployed Newfoundlanders out of a total population of 565,200.

Newfoundland's average weekly wage rate is $247.61, compared with $260.06 for Canada as a whole. Economists often call Newfoundland a ward of the government. Latest available figures (1974) show 71 per cent of economic activity in the province was government-generated spending, compared with 37 per cent for Canada as a whole.

"The general question to be answered is: How can both levels of government best create an economic climate suitable for development?" says the news release announcing the study.

The federal government will pay the entire cost. A staff of five, headed by senior ECC economist Neil Swan, will open up shop today in St. John's.

The province is providing office space and some professional back-up staff. Other economists will be borrowed from the department of regional economic expansion (DREE).

Their report will be released in autumn 1980.

The study has three specific goals:

—Find a way of reducing unemployment in Newfoundland.

—Explore ways to raise incomes.

—Recommend programs that will reduce the province's dependence on federal payments.

It arises out of an earlier ECC study called Living Together: A Study of Regional Disparities, done two years ago by Swan.

That study made several recommendations, but added that they did not apply to Newfoundland because it had unique economic problems.

ASKED FOR MORE
An ECC spokesman said Trudeau asked the council for a second study stating exactly what these problems are and how they can best be tackled.

Swan has been with the ECC for about five years and specializes in exploring regional disparities.

Crosbie said: "Anybody with eyes can see from Newfoundland's past and current performance that we've got problems. I don't know why they need a study. And if this one is going to take two years, it will be completely useless."

He said the government would be better advised to spend its money on improving the province's transportation system, giving construction a shot in the arm by undertaking new federal building projects, providing assistance to help fishermen to expand their fleets and giving the province the go-ahead to start aggressively exploiting offshore mineral resources, which now fall under federal jurisdiction.

Toronto carriers won't strike

TORONTO CP — Letter carriers in Metropolitan Toronto voted Sunday not to take strike action to support post office truck drivers who walked out last week to protest what they said were unsafe conditions in delivery vans.

Alec Powers, president of Local 1, Letter Carriers Union of Canada, which also represents the drivers, said the local faces a difficult problem and he has called a meeting of all union stewards today to take stock of the situation.

Mail service ground to a halt in Toronto and two area boroughs after about 400 truck drivers walked off the jobs. The drivers says the vans have defective brakes, steering and bumper assemblies.

About 1,000 letter carriers were ordered not to report for work Friday and the three areas where trucks had not made deliveries.

The LCUC executive had wanted the post office to agree to limit disciplinary action before the drivers agreed to return to work.

At a meeting Sunday, the local executive urged members to back strike action in support of drivers who face possible suspensions for taking part in the walkout. But the vote was 536 to 391 against a strike.

Powers said he took the vote as a repudiation, to a degree. He said the issues involved may not have been clearly expressed.

He said the local's membership had spoken democratically and their wishes would not be ignored.

Powers said it was too early to discuss the question of ordering the drivers back to work. He said drivers taking part in the walkout would not be abandoned by the union.

REJECT OFFER

On Saturday, the drivers rejected a post office offer to have the 133 vans modified during a 10 day period.

Talks Saturday between John Alken, a post office representative, and Ralph McKinnon, Ontario representative of the union, broke off an hour after they began.

The post office offered to remove the trucks from service on a staggered basis, beginning today, to have the rear bumper assembly modified.

Ed Roworth, a post office spokesman, said the union want the entire fleet of Dodge 115 series vans pulled off the road immediately.

He said seven drivers were suspended Sunday for a day without pay and the suspension will go on their records.

Roworth said the post office was proceeding with its plans to modify the vans to eliminate the remotest possibility of the vehicle being a safety hazard.

Safety experts from Transport Canada and Chrysler Canada Ltd., the vans' manufacturer, have assured the union there is no defect that would warrant taking all 133 off the road.

NDP opposes Panama mine

OTTAWA (CP) — New Democrat Leader Ed Broadbent said Monday the government must block any attempt by the Export Development Corp. to finance a copper development in Panama.

He said such assistance, amounting to about $1 billion, would hurt Canadian job and mineral export potential.

"The government has to stop using taxpayers money to finance investments abroad which jeopardize Canadian jobs at home," he said.

"World copper markets are in a slump and future downturns could be worsened by adding new production facilities."

He was commenting on a statement last week by John MacDonald, chairman of the corporation, that the Crown company is interested in assisting in the development of a major copper discovery in Panama. He said if Canada does not offer assistance, some other country will. It was better for Canadian business to get the benefits of corporation action.

The Export Development Corp. lends money or guarantees loans to foreign customers who must make guarantees to spend the money in Canada for goods and services.

Broadbent said Canada must help developing countries but "to do so by creating industries abroad which directly compete with our own provides a precarious economic base for the Third World, jeopardizes the jobs of workers in Canada, and can ultimately undermine Canadian support for Third World aid."

He said it is disturbing that the government is creating the same situation as developed with Inco Ltd. That company laid off workers in Canada while Inco operations in Guatemala and Indonesia, financed with Canadian money, were starting up.

Queen smiling in Saskatoon

SASKATOON (CP) — Queen Elizabeth resumed her hectic Royal tour pace Monday, starting with a luncheon attended by one of her most loyal defenders, former prime minister John Diefenbaker.

Guests at the luncheon, at which federal Transport Minister Otto Lang was the host, dined in style on fresh fruit soaked in kirsch, chicken breasts and Saskatoon berry pie. A quintet from the Canadian Forces air command staff played softly in the background.

Queen Elizabeth was relaxed and smiling following a private evening in Saskatoon on Sunday night.

The Queen, Prince Philip and their 14-year-old son, Prince Edward, stayed at the residence of R. W. Begg, president of the University of Saskatchewan.

The Queen made herself right at home.

ANSWERED DOORBELL

An RCMP messenger, dispatched to the residence to deliver the royal mail, was astounded when he rang the doorbell and Queen Elizabeth came to the door.

The messenger said later he was so astounded that he almost dropped the entire load of mail.

The Queen went to the lunch dressed in a green dress and straw hat. She wore, as she has since the tour began July 26 in Newfoundland, a pair of rather sturdy black high-heeled shoes.

Her heavy program of activities Monday included a visit to University Hospital and John Dolan School for the handicapped in Saskatoon.

Prince Philip and Prince Edward went off on an expedition down into the nearby provincial government-owned Cory Potash mine.

Defeatist attitude toward economy

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor Minister John Munro blames "a defeatist attitude" among Canadians for part of the country's problems with inflation and unemployment.

In a Monday address to the Canadian Convention of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters union in Quebec City, Munro said the federal government is "doing pretty well" in dealing with the economy.

A text of his speech was released in Ottawa.

"There are many who paint a dismal and gloomy picture of our economic prospects," Munro said, adding "the facts don't bear them out."

The national unemployment rate in June was a post-1930s high of 8.6 per cent of the work force—more than 900,000 jobless—and price inflation was nine per cent.

These are problems Canada shares with most other industrial countries, Munro said.

OTHERS DECLINE

Since 1973, when energy prices quadrupled, Canada has had some real growth in its economy annually, although not enough to keep unemployment from rising. Other nations, including the United States, Japan and West Germany, had at least one year each of decline.

Munro said Canada has had a faster rate of employment growth since 1970 than other industrial nations. In June this year, there were 356,000 more working than a year ago, despite the 8.6 per cent unemployment rate.

Munro said he personally will not be content until "every Canadian who wants a job, has a job."

But he said the situation has to be put into context by considering the rapid growth in the labor force. Between 1950 and 1976, the labor force grew by 2.7 per cent annually, more than twice the U.S. rate.

He made only a brief reference to the necessity for holding down wage demands after mandatory pay and price controls come off entirely by year-end. In recent weeks, cabinet ministers have been stressing that wage demands must be restrained to prevent a surge in inflationary pressures.

But workers' incomes have not been rising as fast as inflation. Statistics Canada figures show, so that real incomes are suffering. Referring to rising food prices and to government-approved increases in oil and gas prices, Munro warned the teamsters that they will make a mistake "if any of us thought we can protect ourselves for every increase in imported food and for every increase in energy."

Natives won't discuss pipeline until settlement

WHITEHORSE, Yukon (CP) — Four Yukon Indian groups have decided that land claims must be settled before they discuss the impact of the proposed $10.5-billion Alaska Highway gas pipeline with federal officials.

Leaders of the Yukon Native Brotherhood, Yukon Association of Non-status Indians, Council for Yukon Indians and Yukon Indian Women's Association made the announcement in the territory's capital.

"We will no longer participate in the hearing being conducted by the Northern Pipeline Agency and the Environment Assessment Review Panel," group leaders said in a joint statement.

"We have been victimized by the mirages cleverly painted by government and their past public inquiries," it said. "We will not participate in the terms and conditions of hearings as proposed by the government."

MFT added that "community leaders have met with Mitchell Sharp, the pipeline commissioner, and our evaluation tells us that future consultation will not be to our benefit."

Food prices stabilizing

OTTAWA (CP) — The anti-inflation board predicted Monday that the recent sharp rise in food prices has levelled out so consumers can expect stable prices for the rest of the year.

Reporting on its regular monthly survey of supermarket prices in 12 cities across Canada, the board said the price rise in the four weeks to July 21 was the smallest this year.

In that period, prices increased six-tenths of one per cent. The increases apparently peaked in early July, when they were rising at 4½ per cent a month, and have been rising more slowly since.

But board officials said it will likely be September before the price moderation shows up in Statistics Canada's consumer price index, the most commonly used inflation measure. The board's survey is more current than the consumer price index.

Prices for fresh produce should start declining in late summer and fall as domestic supplies become available, the board survey said.

An Old Look For New Furniture

If you're like many home-makers, you'd like the look of fine old colonial furniture for your home, yet you're not prepared to pay the prices usually asked for authentic antiques. Fortunately, a good secretary can help you, especially if it's a reproduction of the old fashioned kind. This one features the charm of graceful Queen Anne styling. Other pieces in the collection possess the strong lines and unique "spiral rope" motifs of the handsome Jacobean period that early American craftsmen loved to make. These elegant English motifs, with their sea-change touch of colonial cleverness have been recreated by the talented designers at Thomasville in a collection called FOUNTAINHEAD in native American pine and finished in a sunbleached light pine or a warm fruitwood, toned honey pine.

If you combine the secretary with a couple of coordinated end tables and upholstered pieces and add a few old-fashioned effects, can turn any old room into a New World room that will look lovely for years to come.

Take Preventive Action
"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" may be a well-worn adage. But when applied to household chores, it's a well-tested fact of life.

Below are a few examples of simple tasks that quickly get out of hand. You'll probably be able to think of additional items that belong on this list. Keep these and similar chores under control before problems set in, and you'll find your days run much smoother and with less effort.

Sew loose buttons before they fall off; polish the silver before it tarnishes; clean the "works" of your coffee pot before they get really discolored.

Clear leaves and dirt out of your gutters before they home.

overflow; sprinkle sand or salt on your walk and driveway right after you finish shoveling the snow—and before the ice forms.

Clean kitchen and bathroom drains weekly with Drain Power, the one-second drain opener that contains no dangerous lye or acids, to prevent sluggish drains and avoid difficult clogs.

Have your chimney cleaned and sweep out your fireplace before your first winter fire; vacuum your draperies frequently and have them dry-cleaned before dust has the chance to wear away the fibers.

So, take a little advice from the household sage and take preventive action to avoid disasters around your home.

TIPS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Save Your Back

Weeding out weeds is a perennial problem. Mowing down weeds and grass in hard-to-reach lawn areas can be a pain in the neck, and in several other places as well.

Naturally, the best way to solve your weed problem is to prevent it before it crops up. For new lawns, you can help prevent weeds from sprouting by raking, selecting appropriate seed, sowing grass early in the fall so it's dense and mature before the weed-sprouting season, and adding fertilizer to speed grass growth. Following these practices can help prevent weeds from having space to root and grow.

However, this system is far from perfect. Some weeds will certainly rear their ugly heads, but when they do, you can eliminate the back-breaking aspects of the chore of getting at weeds and grass in inaccessible areas by using a power trimmer.

If you can't nip weeds in the bud and find yourself wrenching your back trying to trim the grass in those nasty little spots, a trimmer might prove a device as welcome as spring rain to a parched lawn.

Modern Kitchens Have Old Fashioned Charm

The extensive use of wood in kitchens is typical of today's and yesterday's decor. It sets a natural mood and a harmonious background for informal family living.

This contemporary version of an old fashioned "homey style" kitchen is warm and inviting, but also efficient and easy to care for.

Pots and pans are suspended overhead like a modern mobile sculpture, adding their own character and immediate identification of the space.

The walls and ceiling of natural Western Red Cedar are both practical and beautiful. Cedar's mellow colour is easy to live with and the wood requires very little upkeep. Pictures, posters and bulletin boards can be arranged, and re-arranged without worrying about marking the walls.

The storage cupboards and work island in this kitchen are constructed from fir plywood and painted chrome yellow. The smooth surface and vivid hue provide a striking contrast with the colours and textures of the other wood surfaces and with the white kitchen appliances.

Concealed push latches on the cupboard doors make them easy to open and to clean because there are no knobs or handles to wash your way around. Medium Density Overlay Douglas fir plywood was used to give a smooth base for the paint finish. This type of COFI EXTERIOR plywood has a resin impregnated fibre overlay that is specially formulated and highly recommended as a base for paint.

The world's largest non-profit scientific and educational institution is the National Geographic Society, founded in 1888.

Quebec taxpayers get federal rebates, but gov't message could be an irritant

OTTAWA (CP) — Quebec taxpayers started receiving $85 rebate cheques by mail this week, along with a message from the federal government.

The rebates—the federal government's method of paying Quebec the money owed to it in Finance Minister Jean Chretien's April budget—are accompanied by a message from Chretien which reads in part:

"The refusal of the government of Quebec to participate in the national (budget) plan would have deprived the people of Quebec of the benefits of the federal budget."

"So as not to penalize the people of Quebec, Parliament has passed a law to compensate Quebecers for what they otherwise would have lost."

Sinclair Stevens, Progressive Conservative finance critic, Monday called the enclosure dishonest and unfair. He said it could be nothing but a further irritant in relations between the federal government and Quebec separatist government.

A spokesman for the finance minister said he sees nothing divisive or controversial about the message.

EXPLANATION NEEDED
"We put it in so people would know why they were getting the money. It's there for obvious reasons and I think an explanation was due with the cheque."

"I don't see why anyone would want to question it."

He said there has been no reaction to the message from the Quebec government.

Stevens predicted such a reaction would not be long in coming.
"He (Chretien) is obviously going out of his way to put a bar in the side of the Parti Quebecois. We don't need this kind of nasty needling from the federal government."

The $85 income tax rebates were the focus of a two-month budget controversy between Chretien and his Quebec counterpart Jacques Parizeau this spring.

Chretien wanted Quebec to cut its retail sales taxes in order to be eligible for the federal re-imbursement offered in his spring budget. Eight other provinces (Alberta has no sales tax) had already agreed to do so by the time the federal budget was released April 10.

PARIZEAU REFUSED
Parizeau refused. He was supported by the opposition in the Commons and the Quebec legislature. He appealed to the federal government, instead, to compensate Quebec for a scheme which called for elimination of sales tax on goods produced by his province's sensitive industries—furniture, footwear, clothing and textiles.

Chretien said this would qualify Quebec for only $40 million of the $225 million set aside for it in the federal budget.

Shooting follows hostage incident

PARIS (AP) — A lone terrorist surrendered after holding hostages at the Iraqi embassy here for 8 1/2 hours Friday and touched off a wild and bloody shootout between Iraqi security men and French police who were trying to take him away.

One policeman and one Iraqi guard were killed and the terrorist and three other persons were wounded.

Police said at least three Iraqi security men first rushed the French officers and their captive on the street outside the embassy, opening fire on the terrorist. The Frenchmen returned the fire and more than a dozen shots were fired.

A number of Iraqi security men were arrested by police.

The captured terrorist, said by Palestinian sources in Lebanon to be a guerrilla loyal to Yasser Arafat, head of the Palestine Liberation Organization, was severely wounded. The other three wounded were identified as two policemen and an Arab League diplomat who had acted as a negotiator. An embassy guard suffered severe gunshot wounds during the initial terrorist takeover of the building.

Sources in the guerrilla movement in Beirut said the embassy raid was part of an anti-Iraq campaign being waged by Arafat's Fatah guerrilla group because of Iraq's support of radical guerrillas fighting an underground war against Arafat. The radicals consider Arafat too soft toward Israel.

The terrorist was reported to have carried a sub-machine-gun as well as grenades into the embassy.

ACCOMPLICE FLED

Police said an accomplice fled soon after gunfire broke out in the building as the pair entered at about 10 a.m. By nightfall, police had reported no trace of the fugitive gunman.

UNUSUAL GROWTH OPPORTUNITY

A professional organization based in the Terrace area is suffering from the pangs of expansion and promotion from within. This company is looking for strongly motivated people who will become marketing specialists in a fast changing marketplace.

This position would be of interest to a person who is currently earning between $14,400 and $20,000 (this is our basic salary range) and who has a strong desire to earn more income based on his abilities rather than on restricted territories. This person would also want freedom of action and the desire to be their own entrepreneur.

Our company provides as training a professional selling course, coaching in human relations and an understanding of business itself.

HOME SHOP IDEAS

HERE'S THE DRILL

If you had to invest in just one tool for your home workshop, most experts agree that the one you should buy is a variable speed drill. Versatility is the key—like being able to use a wide variety of accessories for power filing, sanding, polishing, as well as using hole saws, counter sinks, screw-driver bits, etc. Further, a reversible drill can remove screws or jammed drill bits. With a variable speed drill, you can increase the speed as you tighten your screw on the trigger or you can pre-set and lock into a specific speed. This variable speed feature is ideal for drilling in a wide variety of materials—wood, plastic, metal, masonry or glass. Some extra good news for home workshop enthusiasts is that Rockwell is offering a special Value Pack this Spring, which includes their versatile 1/2 inch Adjustable Variable Speed Reversing Drill (Model 4250-1) plus their new Model 4900 Electric Engraver—an extra $8.99 value when you purchase the versatile 1/2 inch drill at the manufacturer's list price of $39.99. The Electric Engraver permanently engraves metal, glass, plastic and wood. Use to discourage theft by permanently marking your valuables, remind borrowers where to return tools, prevent property mix-ups, personalize gifts, ideal for home, workshop or office. Replaceable carbide point, adjustable depth of cut, pencil grip design for sure control. U.L. Listed.

A HIGH FEATURE DRILL lets you increase speeds simply by squeezing the trigger, or pre-set and lock into a specific speed.

The Rockwell 1/2 inch drill's dependable ball thrust bearing, double reduction gears and a three-jaw geared chuck are evidence of the tool's quality and ability to stand up to frequent drilling in hard materials. This is an easy way to find out if you're getting your money's worth out of any tool.

Marsh World

WHIMBREL (Formerly called Hudsonian Curlew) (Numenius phaeopus) — This large mottled brown and gray shorebird nests in the northern hemisphere in open tundra near fresh water ponds. It measures nearly 18 inches in length, with a 4 inch down-curved bill, distinguishing it as a curlew. The Whimbrel is the most common of the three curlews found in North America. They are most numerous along the east and west coasts, but can be seen regularly around inland marshes and lakes during migration. Curlews feed in shallow water on aquatic insects, crustacea and molluscs.

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

CRYPTOQUIP 6-27

ULMXHMXQLFG ULMXHGXMWX QG

WTTQXHT XL UFCX CFTTHMGG

Yesterday's Cryptiquip — GRAY MINARETS SHINE EERILY IN THE MOONLIGHT.

Today's Cryptiquip clue: Cequels R

The Cryptiquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Elegant Desserts In A Jiffy

The piece de resistance of a luncheon or dinner is dessert. Smooth and creamy...cool and refreshing...sweet and rich...an elegant dessert makes any meal a special occasion.

But many women no longer have hours to spend in the kitchen preparing desserts. They rely heavily on convenience foods and partially prepared products to save time and energy.

Presto, change! You can become a kitchen magician in a matter of minutes by using a little imagination. Suggested here are three elegant desserts made in a jiffy with the help of convenient, versatile concord-grape products.

Grape Mallobet is a smooth, creamy blend with a lavender tint. The recipe uses marshmallows, apricot nectar and concordgrape juice along with such staples as lemon juice, egg whites, salt and sugar. This luscious mixture can be kept frozen in refrigerator freezing trays and served on a moment's notice.

Looking for a cool, refreshing dessert—something light to serve after a hearty meal? Concord Frappe is a frozen blend of three fruit juices—concordgrape, apple and lemon. Keep a batch in the freezer and scoop into glasses at serving time.

It's amazing what you can do with frozen pound cake. Keep two or three on hand for emergency desserts like Easy Elegant Torte. Just split the cake into three layers, then spread layers and frost sides with a mixture of whipped cream, concordgrape jam and nuts.

GRAPE MALLOBET

20 marshmallows
1 cup concordgrape juice
1/3 cup apricot nectar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2 egg whites
Generous dash salt
2 tablespoons sugar

Easy Elegant TORTE

1 package (11 1/4-ounces) frozen pound cake, thawed

2 cups prepared whipped cream or whipped dessert topping

1 cup concordgrape jam

1/2 cup chopped filberts or pecans

Concordgrape jam

Chopped nuts

Split cake into 3 layers. Combine whipped cream, concordgrape jam and nuts. Spread 1/3 cup between layers. Use remaining whipped cream mixture to frost sides and top of cake. Decorate with concordgrape jam and nuts. Makes 8 servings.

Fiance's Reticence Makes Her Wonder

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 28-year-old woman keeping company with a 32-year-old man whom I've known for almost a year. (I'll call him Roland.) We are planning to marry as soon as he locates in a nearby city. (He's a professional person with a promising career.) I have never been promiscuous, but I did succumb at age 16, and fortunately escaped becoming pregnant. I became engaged at 20 and had a brief sexual relationship, but we broke up when I discovered that my fiancé was a compulsive gambler.

My problem: Roland has never indicated by word or action that he would like to sleep with me. I would willingly agree, but I can't bring myself to lead the way. I am really concerned over his lack of interest in sex. I'm no sex maniac, but I think a compatible sex relationship is essential to a good marriage. What should I do?

CONCERNED IN COLUMBUS

DEAR CONCERNED: Have a frank talk with Roland. Ask him if he's indifferent about sex in general, or just with you. Also find out if he has refrained from mentioning the subject because he's saving himself until after the wedding—or if, perchance, there's another reason.

DEAR ABBY: My husband had an affair with a young woman at work, but it's supposed to be over now. I forgave him because I love him very much and we have children who need a father.

During the affair, his girlfriend gave him an I.D. bracelet and a cigarette lighter. He still wears the bracelet and carries the lighter even though I've asked him to give them back to her. He says he's keeping them because he likes them—not because she gave them to him.

Am I being foolish for insisting that he give these things back to her? Every time I see the gifts she gave him, I feel uneasy.

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You have a right to insist that he either return the gifts or put them away where you won't have to look at them. And since he claims it's the jewelry he likes, and not "her," suggest that he replace those articles himself. Or you could offer to replace them.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old, and my scout troop recently made a visit to a nursing home to cheer up the old folks there. We made some colorful paper flowers beforehand, and we sang some songs to entertain the old people.

Abby, you wouldn't believe how hungry those old folks were for company. The first lady I handed a flower to, gave it back to me, saying she didn't have any money to buy it. Then I told her it was free, and her face lit up and she took such a long time trying to decide which color to take. I got the feeling that she was trying to detain me just to have somebody to talk to for a while longer.

I can't tell you how much our visit was appreciated. When we drove off, we could see the folks looking through the windows and holding on to their paper flowers.

Please put something in your column to get people to visit their local nursing homes, whether they have somebody there or not. They are all somebody's grandmothers and grandfathers and they are human, too.

GIRL SCOUT

DEAR SCOUT: Bless you for writing. And those of you out there who are interested in visiting nursing homes to cheer up the residents should telephone first and make arrangements with the staff.

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters For All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (23 cents) envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Your Animal's Health

By Robert F. Jochen
Doctor of Veterinary Medicine

If you own a horse, you should be concerned about planning an effective worm control program. Worms are widespread in horses of any age and unless effective control measures are practiced, the parasites could cause serious illness.

Your veterinarian can recommend a control program, best suited for your horse(s). He has a wide variety of modern worming products from which to select a dosage and package form to fit the needs of the horse owner.

One wormer recommended by many veterinarians today is TELMIN (a trademark). It is highly effective against the major worms and is safe for use in horses of any age or condition.

See your veterinarian today about a worm control program and ask about TELMIN.

FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) ♈
You have a chance to cash in on good will, to increase your prestige.

TAPIR'S

(Apr. 21 to May 21) ♉
This day's progress could be furthered by joining forces with someone outside your normal circle—but with similar interests, of course.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21) ♊
A great day for presenting your ingenious ideas. Don't let "stick-in-the-mud" types dissuade you.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23) ♋
Avoid present tendencies toward lethargy and inertia. Self-discipline is one of your strongest traits. Stress it now.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23) ♌
Don't cross others without ample reason. It may be better to wait a bit before making decisions, give time for added factors to appear.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) ♍
Get together with associates who share your interests to discuss ambitions, hopes, plans for the future, new ideas in general.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) ♎
Be cautious in dealing with associates. Some may urge you to make certain commitments against your better judgment. Don't allow yourself to be pressured.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) ♏
Don't regard decisions made in the a.m. as final. Certain circumstances may necessitate revisions later in the day.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) ♐
A day calling for your best judgment. Don't take action in a tricky situation before you've heard the whole story, and DO try to see the viewpoint of associates.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) ♑
Be ready for changes. Some surprising orders will be given regarding your duties and responsibilities. Maintain your balance and avoid extremes.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) ♒
A day for remaining in the background. Your hunches are correct, but this is not the time for taking direct action. Only through subtlety will you win the gains you desire.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) ♓
An unexpected discovery you make will prove profitable. Your clue lies in reading between the lines, carefully studying the "fine print."

YOU BORN TODAY are a combination of idealism and practicality; have been endowed with a magnetic personality and unusually strong gifts of leadership. You take yourself seriously—sometimes so seriously that you become TOO self-assured, even arrogant in your attitude toward "lesser lights." Try to tone down such feelings since they could lead to self-defeat. Highly versatile, there are many fields in which you could achieve outstanding success—most notably, however, in the legal profession, which could lead you into politics or statesmanship, or in literature where your sense of the dramatic would best evidence itself in novels or plays. Other areas which are suited to your capabilities: music, the stage and science (especially chemistry and pathology). Birthdate of: Herman Melville, author of "Moby Dick"; Yves St. Laurent, French fashion designer; Jack Kramer, tennis star.

Women not aggressive enough

By EDITH ROBB
Moncton Transcript
MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Women have not been as successful as men in the business world because they lack motivation, conditioning, knowledge and time, says Miriam Uni of Boston, a human behavior consultant.

Ms. Uni, president and director of the Self-Enrichment Series and a former teacher of interpersonal communications at University College of Northeastern University, said in an interview that the key to success is not being afraid to accept any challenge and never considering failure.

Ms. Uni said many women have been conditioned to think they will always be looked after and therefore are not aggressive in developing hidden potential. Often, the move towards success comes only when women face some sort of crisis such as children leaving home or a marriage breakup.

"When you are suddenly living alone and you know you have to make it alone, you realize you are totally responsible for your enjoyment of life, that's where you start developing."

SITUATION CHANGING

Women have traditionally not had as much motivation as men to build a stable career, although this situation is changing.

"That's why I consider today one of the most exciting eras to live in, because opportunities are so frequent."

Ms. Uni, whose early marriage dissolved, said she believes a married woman with a family cannot give a career as much as an unmarried woman.

"It's a simple mathematical equation. It's not that they don't try, but they just have so many other things to do. Even when men are very successful, they often have a wife behind the scenes looking after all the little details for them. But women rarely have such a helper."

For the young woman wanting to get ahead in business, she suggested she learn everything possible about the business in which she is currently employed.

"Secretarial skills are of immeasurable help to start with and they can provide an 'in' with a company where you can ultimately learn the ropes and advance."

Ms. Uni's first career was on the stage where she delivered monologues. Between that and her second major career, she married. Eventually, she became involved with a sales training school for men. When she started as a $90-a-week secretary there, she vowed she would run the company and within two years she was vice-president.

Eventually, she started her own school and began a series of travelling lectures which took her from Alaska to the southern United States.

"Hermie, either we're gonna get married or I guess I shouldn't see you any more."
